

THERE'S A WRITER IN YOU

J.J. Turner, Ph.D. ©

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you are too scared
To release his desire.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you keep making excuses
That keep the doors locked.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you keep on insisting
That you don't know where to start.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you've convinced him
To wait for the right time.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you waste your time
Day dreaming of what could be.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you keep thinking
Nobody will read what you write.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you still remember
Your poor grades in English.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
But you keep hesitating
To write the first word.

There's a writer in you
That wants to get out,
So please don't let excuses
Kill your unfilled desire.